COOLIDGE ALMOST UNANIMOUSLY NOMINATED

CLOSE FRIEND PROPOSES NAME OF C. COOLIDGE

Marion L. Burton Eulogizes President In Address.

GIVES QUALITIES

Coolidge Presented as the Man, the American, and the Human Being to Convention Audience.

By Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, June 12.—The name of President Calvin Coolidge as nominee to succeed himself as president of the United States was placed before the republican national convention today by Marion Leroy Burton, president of Michigan University. President Burton's nominating address, in part, follows:

"I shall speak as one who for years has known the president. I follow this plan because I believe you want to hear from one who has a first hand knowledge of his subject. The better you know him the more you will trust him. The more carefully you study his written words the more certain you will become of the clarity of his mind, the depth of his thought, and the soundness of his judgment. There is no real statement without these qualities. My function is to present the man.

"In these days of worthy emphasis upon social obligations and public-mindedness it is easy to overlook the full meaning of the individual. Every cause is identified with a person. Just so today the Republican party has its wise leader, tried through many years of faithful and striking public service. His preparation for the high office he now holds has been adequate and ideal.

Paradox of Greatness

He illustrates the paradox of greatness. A paradox is something which is 'apparently absurd yet true.' Anyone will tell you he is 'one of us' and he is. In keeping with his real qualities I shall make no effort to exalt him for he does not need it. It would be grossly inartistic and inconsistent. He is not a superman and would be the last to think so. There is not a trace of show or ostentation about him for he does nothing merely for appearance. He may be an example, but he would never set one. His quiet, unobtrusive, and natural way of doing things was beautifully and gracefully illustrated during the sad days of last August when he assumed the duties of the presidency. He personifies the plain simple virtues of our citizens at their best.

"He has moral fibre. To me, it is his most distinguishing characteristic. There is a moral grandeur about him which does credit to American life. You simply cannot think of him as soft or flabby. He aims actually to do what he knows he ought to do. There is a rigor and vigor in his life which suggests sternness and discipline. He helps one to understand and that righteousness has an actual place in the world. Knowing him, you see at once why he believes that the American spirit is 'the supreme moral power of the world.' With him there is no compromise. There is no substitute for virtue. When he knows what is right he follows it with resolute logic and persistent endeavor. He seems the epitome of sheer self control. His achievements in this respect are worthy of the highest emulation by the present generation of Americans. From his youth up he learned that self restraint is a necessity for happy living as well as for civilization.

Inherited Frugality

"Frugality is a part of his being. He inherited it out of the background from which he came. Frugality to him is no mere negative approach to life. He actually believes that 'civilization rests on conservation.' To him waste is a vicious betrayal of our country, while thrift is the constructive force which assures a stronger future. He seems to personify this philosophy. Every moment of time, without hurry or confusion, is wisely employed. His mind has a chance to work because his tongue gives it a rest.

Maniac Slays Wife, Probably Fatally Wounds Her Brother

Charlie Souther, insane negro of Pineville, killed his wife at his home at Wallsend and seriously wounded George McNeil, said to be his brother-in-law, at 9 o'clock this morning. He escaped after the tragedy and officers are now searching in the mountains for him.

Souther, in an insane frenzy, killed his little child about a year ago by hurling it from a cliff. After this he was sent to the asylum from which he was recently released.

Details of the uxoricide this morning are not known. The negro is supposed to have become suddenly crazed after which he shot her several times, killing her instantly. He shot and seriously wounded McNeil, reported to be his brother-in-law, during the mad escapade. The latter is not expected to live.

He escaped into the mountains after the tragedy. Pineville city and county officers immediately began a search for him but had not located the crazed fugitive at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Souther lived on a small farm at Wallsend.

INTERFERENCE OF COURT IN HOLDUP CASE

Issues Writs of Habeas Corpus Against Police Jailer.

AFFIRM INNOCENCE

Men Claim They Are Unlawfully Detained—Charged With Killing Clintonville Banker There Yesterday.

By Associated Press.

NEWPORT, June 12.—Removal of four men held in connection with the murder of Frank Buchanan, 60, stockholder in the Farmers Bank at Clintonville, yesterday, was prevented today when the Campbell county court issued writs of habeas corpus against the chief of police, Lot Snyder and Jailor John Nagel.

Through their attorney the four prisoners filed petitions alleging they were unlawfully detained in the Newport jail on charges of being implicated in a crime when there was no warrant nor affidavit to detain them. Chief Snyder and Jailor Nagel were ordered to appear in court and show cause why prisoners are being detained. The men deny complicity in the murder and hold-up.

Springfield, Ky., Man Voted for Coolidge President in 1920

SPRINGFIELD, June 12.—Gale C. Wharton of this place, delegate from the Fourth Congressional District to the Republican National Convention at Chicago in 1920, was the delegate who cast the first vote for Calvin Coolidge for president.

The Washington County Republican Convention, on motion of Mr. Wharton, instructed its delegates to the district convention, which met at Elizabethtown, for Coolidge for President.

Mr. Wharton, representing Washington County in the district convention at Elizabethtown urged that the district delegates be instructed for Coolidge. The district delegates, however, went uninducted.

Mr. Wharton was elected delegate from the Fourth Congressional District. At Chicago in first roll call, Mr. Wharton cast the first vote for Calvin Coolidge for President in 1920. The most of the delegates were voting for Louder. After Warren G. Harding had been nominated for President, Mr. Wharton cast the only vote from Kentucky for Calvin Coolidge for Vice-President.

Detour Complaint Being Heard Again

The East End detour proposition is again looming before the public. Recent rains have again made the supplementary route impassable to some cars, according to reports.

One motorist who succeeded in crossing the bad places yesterday reported that three cars were stuck in mud holes. Plans had been made to open the street up to the bridge but for some reason this has not been done. The old bridge has been torn out for some time and the new will perhaps not be completed for a few weeks.

The driver of a Middlesboro-Rose Hill bus reports that his vehicle became hopelessly mired in the mud up to the hub this morning and that most of his passengers abandoned the car and walked into town. Besides possible damage to his bus, he was charged $1.00 by a teamster who pulled him out.

Drug Habit In Japan

TOKIO, June 12.—The drug habit is invading Japan, according to leading physicians, and is finding many of its victims among theatrical people. It has become known that the recent death of Sanoake Sawamura, one of the leading actors of Japan, was due to narcotic poisoning.

Child Wife Sues

BOWLING GREEN, June 12.—Mrs. Louise Reeder, 15 years old, married since February, 1922 filed suit for divorce, alleging cruel treatment.

MAY STRIKE

50,000 Garment Workers Threaten Strike
NEW YORK, June 12.—Failure of representatives of the International Ladies' Garment Workers union and the Merchants Garment association and jobbers organization to reach a working agreement is believed to have made certain a strike in which nearly 50,000 workers will be affected.

PRINCETON JURY INDICT MANY

Forty True Bills Returned, Is the Report, But Names Not Divulged.

PRINCETON, June 12.—Following Circuit Judge Ruby Lattoun's special charge to the Caldwell County grand jury, in which he threatened the jurors with dismissal if they refused to return indictments against alleged violators uncovered as the result of the recent law enforcement crusades inaugurated here, the grand jurors went to work in earnest yesterday and it is said that about forty true bills were returned. The names of those indicted have not been revealed. In all, about fifty indictments have been returned by the grand jury, about forty of them being against alleged violators against whom warrants have been issued in the City Court.

The city law enforcement campaign, which is said to have been sponsored by the Ku Klux Klan, began ten days ago and warrants were issued against several county officials and scores of other citizens, charging them with infractions of the prohibition laws. Evidence in the cases is said to have been obtained by alleged hired bootleggers working under the city authorities who had promised them immunity. As a counter move the county authorities started an enforcement campaign and several arrests have been made, including some of the city's officials.

The cases against City Attorney Albert Morse and former Police Chief John Hubbard, arrested as a result of a campaign inaugurated by the county authorities, were continued in County Court yesterday until Tuesday and Wednesday June 17 and 18, as the County Court is not allowed to try cases while the Circuit Court is in session.

PAINLEVEM MAY HEAD REPUBLIC

Successor to Millerand as President of France Virtually Assured Today.

PARIS, June 12.—Election to the presidency of the Republic of Paul Painlevé president of the Chamber, was assured today after a meeting of leaders of the left wing of the coalition.

Knoxville to Have Big Trapshoot Again

KNOXVILLE, June 12.—Knoxville will play host to the 1923 Tennessee State championship trapshoot, for the second year in succession. Earl Goddard of Knoxville, succeeds Carl Roberts, also of the 114 per cent city, as head of the association.

Last night's executive session at the St. James hotel resulted in Knoxville trapshooters, tied in the first and Knoxville man being elected president. Tom Hale, of Nashville, was elected vice-president, succeeding Nash Buchanan, of Memphis. R. J. Mottern, of Bristol, was elected secretary-treasurer, succeeding Earl Goddard.

Joe Chilton, of Knoxville, was elected zone representative from Tennessee. L. C. King, Bristol, W. W. Jones, New Port, John Noel, Nashville, were chosen as composing the executive committee. George Smith, Joe Chilton, Knoxville, compose the auditing committee.

Killed By Lumber Fall

DIARLAN, June 12.—G. C. Taylor, 55, died from a hemorrhage which followed what was supposed to be minor injury sustained when a load of lumber slipped from a truck and pinned him against a stack of planks in a lumber yard at Pinney.

Kenyon Probable Choice for Office Vice-President

LaFollette Supporters Hold Out Against President.

1,065 FOR COOLIDGE

President Hears Report With Wife Sitting Before Radio Set at the White House.

By Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, June 12.—Calvin Coolidge was swept into the nomination today by one of the largest votes ever given by a republican convention. Before the first and only roll call was half complete, the story of victory had been told as state by state the votes of delegates from east, west, north and south were thrown formally to his support. No other name was presented formally to the convention but 28 of the 29 Wisconsin votes and six from North Dakota were cast for Robert M. LaFollette and ten of the South Dakota delegates followed their primary instructions and voted for Hiram Johnson.

Five hundred and fifty-six votes are necessary for nomination. When the result was announced the convention recessed in a tornado of cheering until late this afternoon when it will select Coolidge's running mate.

Coolidge's name was presented by Dr. Marion Leroy Burton of the University of Michigan and upon the conclusion of his nominating speech the delegates went into a fifteen minute old time demonstration in which state standards were torn from their fastenings and carried on a howling stream of humanity around and around the big convention hall.

After the afternoon session had selected the vice-presidential nominee, the convention will be adjourned sine die.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—President Coolidge, sitting before the radio receiving set in the White House today, heard the swelling chorus by which he was nominated. Mrs. Coolidge was with the president when the vote was taken. The president said he had no formal statement to make at this time. He gave no outward manifestation when the voting was completed. Coolidge received 1,065 votes, LaFollette, 34 and Johnson, 10. "I am not going to accept the nomination for vice-president," Senator Borah declared here early today after being informed that republican leaders at Cleveland had agreed on him for the nomination.

By Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., June 12.—Senator Borah, of Idaho, was agreed upon by administration leaders here this morning for the vice presidential nomination.

Word came from Washington that the Idaho senator would be satisfactory to President Coolidge, and the conference agreed to recommend his nomination to their delegations.

In a brief session marked with a prolonged demonstration for President Coolidge the republican national convention last night adopted its platform, as reported by the resolution committee, and rejected the LaFollette plank presented from the Wisconsin delegation.

The chorus of noes from the Wisconsin section when the question was put on the adoption was almost lost in the great convention hall which had not finished reverberating from a tornado of ayes.

Charles B. Warren, chairman of the resolutions committee read the platform as it finally was approved and moved its adoption. Representative Cooper of Wisconsin presented the LaFollette platform and spoke in its support. Mr. Warren made no extended argument against the LaFollette plank merely reminding the convention that the platform as brought in from the committee had been approved by every member except the member from Wisconsin and that the committee's action might be considered a fair cross section of the sentiment of the convention.

150 CALLED IN NIGHT RIDERS MURDER PROBE

Woman Shot Down At Door By Unknown Assassins

VARIOUS VERSIONS

Glasgow Scene of Trouble From Activities of Night Riders Band —Attributed to Local Causes.

By Associated Press.

GLASGOW, June 12.—Summons has been issued to 150 persons to appear today at the court of inquiry at Edinmont which is investigating reports of night riding activity in this district and the shooting Monday of Mrs. Albert Kidd, who was living near the center of Metcalf county.

New versions of the shooting developed today when it was reported that night riders appeared Monday night asking for Mrs. Kidd. Mrs. Kidd appeared at the door and was shot instantly. Earlier reports indicated that she was shot when attempting to close the kitchen door were not confirmed. Sporadic appearances of night riders are attributed to various causes, chiefly local difficulties.

EDMONTON, June 12.—Too much cross roads talk started tobacco trespassing in Metcalf county, County Judge Henry Price declared today at the conclusion of the court of inquiry investigating the activity of night riders in this section. Later information indicated that Mrs. Albert Kidd who was shot Monday was seriously injured. The judge said that no further action would be taken unless further disorder developed.

Other Papers Get Lines Twisted, Too

The following startling item is from a recent issue of the Journal and Tribune:

Bride-Elect Honored
CLINTON, Tenn., May 31.—Mrs. a trunk filled with gifts of linen, cut who was in government service at trailed by her father to Kingsport City.

The first curfew ever hurried in Cox, Apt. Henry, Dr. J. A. McCul. A drive to sell 2,000 tickets to the game. Business houses of Mary-Chicago at St. Louis.

Buya Farm Near Shawanee
L. W. Scott of Harlan has purchased the W. T. Hale farm near Shawanee in Caliborne county and will move there in the fall. Mr. Hale will come to Middlesboro when he gives possession to Mr. Scott. The deal was made through the Manning Real Estate Co. of this city.

Nominated for president today at the Republican national convention. Voices of the little group of LaFollette men from Wisconsin and North Dakota who stood through the convention in militant insurgency against the policy of the party leaders was almost swallowed in a tremendous wave of acclamation that formally ratified Coolidge's choice as the party's standard bearer.

The special session this afternoon is scheduled for the selection of vice presidential nominees. Nomination of Judge William S. Kenyon, of Iowa, as Coolidge's running mate became a strong possibility shortly after noon when William Butler, Coolidge's campaign manager, declared Kenyon acceptable. Butler then dispatched agents to ascertain the sentiment of the delegates for the Iowa senator.

Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—After a conference with President Coolidge today Senator Borah, of Idaho, said his attitude toward the vice-presidential nomination was unchanged. The senator left the White House refusing to add to the earlier statement that he would not accept the nomination.

ROAD WORK COSTS LESS THIS YEAR

Boggs Says Reletting in July Will Be Cheaper Than Old Contracts.

By Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, June 12.—Road work in Kentucky is costing the state much less than formerly, due to plentiful labor and decreased building costs, J. S. Boggs, state highway engineer, said Tuesday, following an announcement of low bidders on $9.51 miles of proposed road work.

"When the several millions dollars of contracts, recently invalidated by the court of appeals, are relet after July 1, beginning the new fiscal year and the active working period of the new highway commission, the figures will be found to be much less than on the old contracts," he said.

A. J. Hoffman was low bidder on the only piece of construction for which bids were opened Tuesday taking in 19.22 miles on the Dixie Bee Line in Webster county, federal project No. 34. His bid was $22,879.25 for bank gravel concrete pipe and $22,931.05 for gravel vitrified pipe.

The other low bids follow:

Surface treatment:
Bath county, Sharpsburg-Owingsville road, 3.2 miles; using tar, $2,966.10; using oil $3,435, standard asphalt sales company.

Boyle county, Danville-Lebanon road, four miles, tar, $4,058.39, southern oil and tar company; oil $4,634.39 R. B. Tyler.

Garrard county, Lancaster-Richmond road, 6.1 miles; tar, $6,369.25; oil, $7,127.75, R. B. Tyler.

Jessamine County, Nicholasville-Lexington road, 5.4 miles, tar $6,413.17, standard asphalt sales; oil, $7,419.67, R. B. Tyler.

Lincoln county, Stanford-Somerset road, six miles; tar, $4,786.60; oil, $5,427.10, R. B. Tyler.

Madison county, Richmond-Winchester road 4.67 miles; tar $3,716.77; oil, $3,716.77; oil $3,910.77, R. B. Tyler.

Pulaski county, Stanford-Somerset road, 7.5 miles; tar, $5,951.44; oil, $6,699.14, Kentucky road oiling company.

Mrs. J. M. Richardson Succumbs to Illness

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Richardson, 46, wife of J. M. Richardson, of Colmar, died here at 9 o'clock last night after an illness. The remains were taken to Shawanee where funeral services will be conducted at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning by the Rev. Edmondson. Interment will follow in a cemetery there.

The deceased is survived by her husband and six children; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lambert of Harrogate; three brothers in Claiborne county and one brother, George Lambert, of Middlesboro; also, by two sisters, Mrs. Alva Cunningham of Middlesboro and Mrs. Henry Hill of Harrogate.

Kiwanians To Denver

KNOXVILLE, June 12.—Frank Reagan, George Byrd and Charles R. Roberts left yesterday for Denver, Colorado, to attend the international convention of Kiwanis clubs. George Byrd, president of the local club, is being boosted by his friends in Knoxville and East Tennessee for the position of international trustee.

PARK COMMITTEE FAVORS KENTUCKY

State Park Commission Will Consider Cumberland Gap in Location State Park.

Associated Press.

PT. THOMAS, Ky., June 12.—Kentucky has been promised the earnest cooperation of the National Conference on State Parks, as well as the National Park Service, Vance Prather, of Port Thomas, who returned today from the Fourth National Conference on State Parks at Gettysburg, Penn., as Kentucky's delegate.

"Judge John Barton Payne, chairman of the Parks Conference, and Stephen T. Mather, director of the National Park Service, are tremendously interested in Kentucky," he said. "They believe that Kentucky soon will take its rightful place among those states which have set aside large areas for state parks, for recreation and relaxation, for camping, and for the conservation of big game, birds, wild flow and other wild life."

Congressman John Temple of Pennsylvania, and Major William A. Welch superintendent of the Palisades Interstate Park, Bear Mountain, New York, will be in Kentucky soon to look over its projected park areas, Mr. Prather said.

Major Welch, he said, is a native Kentuckian, having been born in Harrison county, but removing from the state with his parents when a lad. They will look over Mammoth Cave, Cumberland Gap and possibly Cumberland Falls on their trip of inspection, which is authorized by act of last congress.

COMMUNITY CHEST CLOSES TOMORROW

Intensive Efforts to Reach Quota Will Be Made — Now $2,800 Short of Goal.

The Community Chest will close tomorrow at noon, according to W. C. Stair, general chairman. An intensive drive will be made to make up the deficiency in the quota tomorrow morning.

The chest now lacks $2,800 of the quota of $17,500, he stated, and every effort will be made to collect this amount. Kiwanians at the luncheon yesterday pledged their support in the remainder of the drive.

Stone Mt. Owner Can't Stop Memorial Work

ATLANTA, Ga., June 12.—Samuel H. Venable, part owner of Stone Mountain, largest solid mass of granite in the world, on which is being carved the gigantic confederate memorial today was restrained from interfering with the work of sculpturing by an injunction issued on petition of the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial association.

The petition charged that Venable has become dissatisfied with the management of the project and recently has attempted to hinder progress in carving the memorial to the south. The restraining order was made returnable June 23, at which time Venable must show cause why the order should not be made permanent.

Howes, Democrat, to Run for U. S. Senate

FRANKFORT, June 12.—John J. Howes, of Carrollton, filed candidacy today for the nomination for United States senator on the Democratic ticket.

MIDDLESBORO'S NEED OF A CEMETERY.

Recent reports of depredations at the Middlesboro cemetery have shocked the sensibilities of this community. That the last resting place of our beloved ones should have become a rendezvous of sports and law-breakers, that their very graves should be despoiled and devastated of those few adornments of love and remembrance that can be brought to them—how revolting and how heart-breaking.

Care of our dead is one of the most distinctive marks of civilization and culture. The nations that have endured in history and left their mark on civilization have been those who honored their dead and revered the memories of their forefathers. Their culture has been parallel with their disregard of the dead and their irreverence and forgetfulness of those who went before them. A city with well-kept cemeteries and lovely resting places for its dead is one that will endure, one which can be marked down as a center of culture. Those cities which do not have proper cemeteries, it is to our shame to say, however fine their streets and progressive their industries, are never marked by culture; they are, at best, unstable. Substantial people will reside where their loved ones are buried. Though they may for a time, take up a residence elsewhere, there is nothing to hold them in a place where they can not trust their dead ones to lie.

That Middlesboro should not have a city cemetery, but should, year after year, be satisfied with a privately owned place, is incomprehensible and is disgraceful. This place in the edge of town has possibilities, it is true, as a beautiful cemetery. Now, though, the face around the whole place has been trampled down. People on the outskirts are making a thoroughfare of the cemetery, with no one protesting. The owner apparently pays no attention to these matters or to any concern other than getting the money for the lots. He has done nothing to protect the cemetery in any way from stock roaming through it at will, from despoilers of graves, from undesirable who congregate there continually. There is no inducement for any one to choose this as a final resting place for his loved ones. Our dead who lie there are no more protected than if they lay in some waste place, far from any town or from those who held them dear.

Almost every night, we are told, gamblers and other law-breakers gather at the cemetery for their revels. The persons, respecters of nothing or no one, have no scruples in despoiling the graves in any way they choose. Even on Sundays this is a rendezvous, so much so that sensitive persons hesitate to visit the cemetery because their feelings are so harrowed by the things they see there.

Th first of the year we understood that the Kiwanis Club was considering a project by which a city cemetery might be obtained. Outside interests had promised to organize and help finance a cemetery company which would make improvements quite possible. But this movement, like so many other ones, has been, seemingly entirely dropped without explanation.

This is, to us, one of the most important needs of our community. Can we ignore it much longer?

Music is getting so you can't tell if the neighbors are playing the phonograph, fighting, crying or washing dishes.

Tourists report many girls walking to Hollywood. Many, also, will have to walk back.

The worst part about running around after a girl is you can't rest after you get her.

You can trust some people out of your sight and can't trust others until they are out of your sight.

When a married man does get the last word it usually is, "Well, I did the best I could."

We don't know what is all the rage in summer styles unless it is those who pay the bills.

An optimist is a man who paid his income tax in full and will get a refund.

A large apple crop is reported this year, so now we can keep the doctor away.

Everybody knows what summer is as hot as and what winter is as cold as, so isn't our language funny?

Summer is sort of rollers, without exception, predict a nice mild summer there and a hot one where you are.

GEN. HENRY T. ALLEN BOOMED FOR DEMOCRAT PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE

LEXINGTON, June 12.—Major General Henry T. Allen, former commander of the American army of occupation in Germany, and now a visitor in Lexington, is characterized as the ideal selection for the Democratic party to make for its presidential candidate by the International Interpreter in its issue of April 20, 1924.

"He would certainly make both a vigorous and safe president, uniting the progressive forces of the country," the article declares. General Allen on Monday delivered the commencement address at the University of Kentucky and in that address again expressed the opinion that the League of Nations was the best solution for world peace that has ever been offered.

The article in the International Interpreter praises General Allen for his frank and instructive comment on the report of Brundage General Dawes, dealing with the finances and economic conditions of Germany.

Is One of Few

In the five years since the armistice, comparatively few of the generals of the war have continued to stand out as great international figures. Gen. Henry T. Allen is one of these few. Indeed the importance of his thinking about the world situation, on the basis of a large background of experience, is gaining steadily in recognition, until it is possible that what he is thinking today much of America will be thinking tomorrow," says the Interpreter.

In discussing General Allen as presidential timber, the paper says:

"General Allen is, in fact a courageous, but finely tempered progressive, on ideals, movements, and specific facts that are thought of a progressive, he brings to bear a widely balanced judgment."

"His public utterances have both the directness and precision of the soldier, and the charm of the individual who has known and estimated with an exact and sympathetic appreciation many of the greater and lesser figures of the whole world to day. He is a man whom people like immediately, whether they merely see him in public or meet him intimately.

Stands for Beliefs
He is not afraid to stand up for what he believes, and yet he does not arouse the antagonism of his associates. In the army he has been popular both for his personal and military qualities. Tall and with a splendid military bearing he is invariably congratulating with those he meets.

"If there should be a deadlock in the Democratic convention what could be more refreshing than a turning to such an up-to-date progressive as General Allen, rather than to some of the political hacks."

Born in Kentucky, he could nevertheless be a candidate from New York because as an army officer he has been here and there and everywhere, with his residence in New York more than anywhere else.

Yet he is certainly not a political candidate in any sense of the word. Instead he is simply a man who has been doing his work in the world fearlessly, knowing and acting in accord with the practicality and advantages of a frank policy based on fair play and square deal. It is only some such figure as this which can truly embody the essential idealism of the American people make of their enthusiasm a coherent force, and prove the leadership that is necessary to show that America must be, and is, a great spiritual power in the world redefining itself to a new era and making the most of the readjustment already accomplished."

HUNT'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By Harry B. Hunt

WASHINGTON, D. C. June 12.—Not the least of the considerations entering into the pre-convention maneuvering of Democratic chiefs are the ages of the respective candidates for the presidential nomination.

For the purposes of these leaders, the individuals considered as "possibilities" are merely pawns in a game, to be advanced or withdrawn as the exigencies of the play proceed. Neither sentiment nor personal loyalty is permitted to stand in the way of making the play that promises to bring success to the particular interests or groups behind the game.

For there are special interests desiring to control the selection of the Democratic nominee, just as there are interests which seek to shape affairs in the G. O. P.

This matter of age enters into the plans of the play through the coolly considered possibility that the man put at the top of the ticket might not live out his term.

Failing to get across the particular man or sort of man they desire as the nominee for president, it might then become preferable to help boost into first place the man most likely to succumb to his years and the burdens of the office, seeking to get into second place on the ticket the man or type of man they would really prefer as president.

Of the dozen or more leading and "dark horse" candidates in the running at New York, five are more than 60 years of age.

McAdoo is the youngest of the sexagenarians. He will be 61 on Oct. 31. Also he is physically the most active. Due to his temperament and his physical fitness, his age is no handicap. He has the sinewy wiriness of a broncho and the physical keenness of the average man of 40.

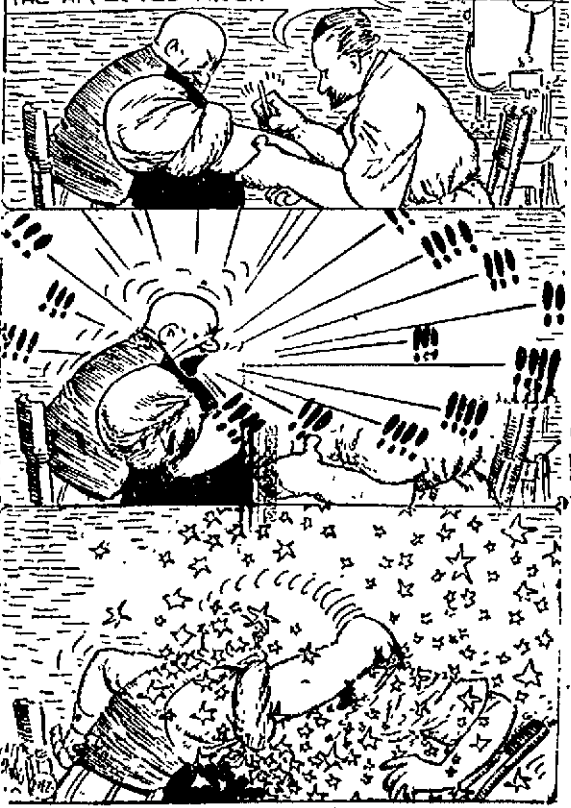

Years behind him. Well preserved, well poised, somewhat phlegmatic, he is the sort that passes three-score and ten with reasonable security.

Walt of Montana, at 65, also would be a good insurance risk. He feels, as he looks, more nearly 55.

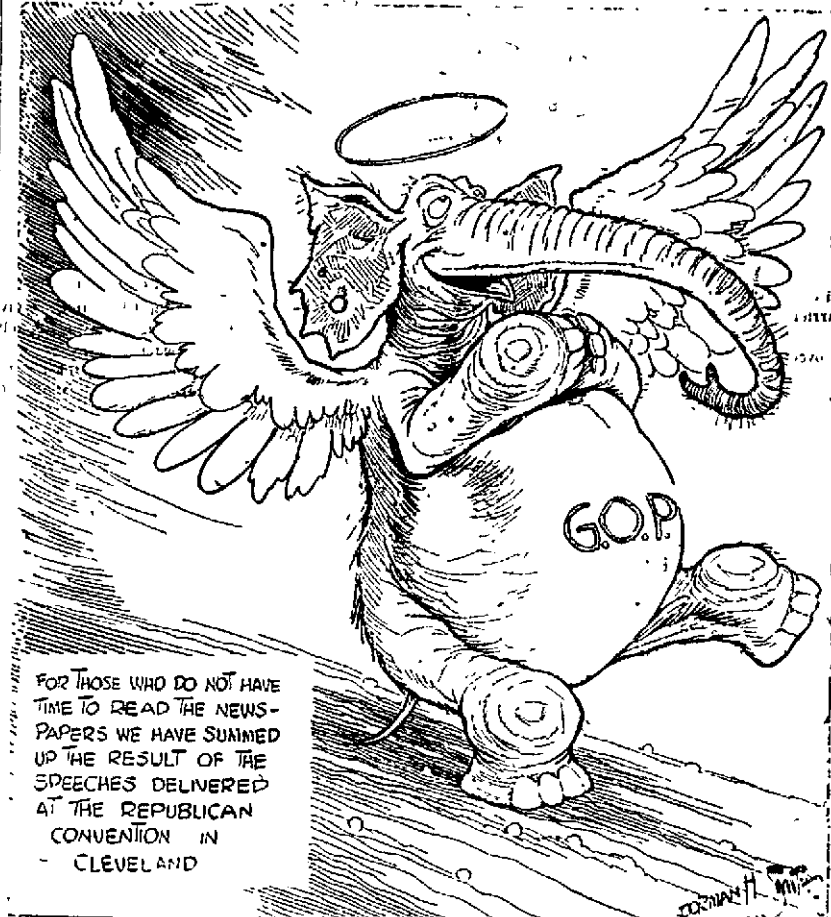

Glass of Virginia, who is rumored as the legatee of the McAdoo strength in case William Gibbs cannot land the nomination, was 66 last January. Small, wiry, physically as tough as sole leather, he is the type that grays slowly and shrivels to a wrinkled old age.

A Verbatim Report

FOR THOSE WHO DO NOT HAVE TIME TO READ THE NEWS-PAPERS WE HAVE SUMMED UP THE RESULT OF THE SPEECHES DELIVERED AT THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION IN CLEVELAND

Congressman Robson A Winner

The following letter to local voters from their congressman, J. M. Robson, who seeks re-election:

Dear friend:

I wish to say to the readers of the News that we open our campaign at Corbin, Kentucky, on Monday night, June 16th, and will continue to wage an active campaign until the primary August 2nd, 1924. I wish to say to my friends that the outlook for us in the district is very fine. If our friends continue active we will carry every county overwhelmingly. I make this statement after most careful investigation and after receiving numerous reports from every section of the District. I hope you will not consider it out of place if I should call your attention to the fact that your present member of Congress is chairman of the important committee on Mines and Mining; acting chairman of the committee on Pensions, the ranking Republican of the committee on Good Roads, and second from the top of the committee on Education. This is the first time that any Congressman from the 11th Congressional District of Kentucky has been chairman of one of the standing committees of the House. These positions on the committees have come to us by reason of experience and length of service. If a new man is elected he would have to go to the foot of the committees. To be Chairman carries with it not only certain responsibilities, but certain influence. You know that I have been active for roads; in behalf of the Veterans of all of our war and their dependents; for those measures that will benefit the miners and mining interests of our country; for those measures that are of benefit to the farmer and working people; for those measures that provide for the reduction of Federal taxes; for Education; and you know that I have been active for those measures that would cut out or at least greatly restrict foreign immigration. You know I have given earnest, active and sympathetic attention and consideration to all who have called on me for help. Now, my dear friends don't you think with our experience and with our standing on the committees that we could be of more service to you than some new man? In conclusion I wish to say to you as I have said in the past that when you feel I can be of service to you, do not hesitate to call on me. I want each reader and friend of the News to know I shall appreciate more than I can express in words anything you may say or do in my behalf. When it is over you will find I have given you the facts. Our friends will carry every county in the district. With very best wishes, I remain,

Your friend,
J. M. ROBSON.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The people of this district have decided that they want a new representative in Congress. My friends in the district and from every county which the district includes have requested that I make the race and they have assured me that I can win. I therefore announce as a candidate for Congress from the Eleventh Congressional District of Kentucky, on the Republican ticket, and I will make the opening speech of my race at the courthouse in Middlesboro, Monday, June 16, at 1 o'clock p. m.

THE PRISONER

A prisoner, whose sin is love of you,
I pace my soul as restless captives do,
Beating the barriers of my heart's red gate
That, all unmoved, will not capitulate.
I know no rest, I cannot even keep My mind immune from you enough to sleep,
And so, through lonely nights, I lie
awake
A prisoner of love from Love's sweet sake.

If at my feet the world, where once
I went,
Lay wide again, and in secure content,
I and my soul had length and breadth to roam
The brown road or the creamyfooted foam,
I wonder would I turn me to the pain
Of being your dear prisoner again.
And what this captive heart and soul would do
With freedom that meant liberty from you?

Coolidge's Father Too Busy Farming to Attend Convention

Associated Press.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., June 11.—The spring planting is the farmer's first duty, thinks John C. Coolidge, the President's father, and he said he had refused an invitation to the Republican Convention in Cleveland, received Tuesday morning from the Republican National Committee.

"Telegram received, thanks," his answering wire read. "I cannot see my way clear to go to the convention."

The farming had been backward. Mr. Coolidge told a representative of the Associated Press. He had his oats and wheat and grass seed planted, but the potatoes must go in next. He was busy all morning with the harrow, and he doubted whether he would even have time to "listen in" on the radioing.

set installed in his home.

Mr. Coolidge did not try out the set for a few minutes after the scheduled opening of the convention, but the friend who operated the contrivance for him could not "get" Cleveland at all. The set is a glittering bronze-lined affair, presented by a commercial firm, with Mr. Coolidge's name engraved upon it. He had several invitations, Mr. Coolidge stopped his harrowing long enough to say. "One was to go to Washington en route to Cleveland and to see my grandson graduate at Mercersburg, Penn., but there is too much to do here, and I shan't accept any of these invitations."

The father of the president put the reins about his shoulders, clucked to his horse, went on with his harrow.

SAYS OVEREATING IS NATIONAL SIN

American Medical Association Tells How to Avoid Many Ills of Life.

Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 12.—A nip of "something strong" before a meal is not one of the habits helpful to growing old successfully because, taken at such a time, it is an incentive to overeating which is a "national sin," declared Dr. H. H. Drysdale of Cleveland, in an address today before the American Medical Association.

Dr. Drysdale's subject was how a man at the apex of his achievements may avoid the penalty of years of high pressure living and escape such ailments as apoplexy. Playing golf was among those having a place in the scheme of old age hygiene.

"The 'freined finance' habit, which will not allow a patient to relax and forget his responsibilities when necessary, can be blamed for many serious illnesses and fatalities," said the doctor.

"The national sin of overeating, and especially of meat is one of the heavy burdens an elderly man asks his body to bear. Alcohol, taken before meals is one of the causes of overeating. The advent of prohibition, with the attendant disappearance of the chronic alcoholic, will do much to lower the death rate from arteriosclerosis."

"Make no compromises with such patients, or you will fall in your mission, which constitutes an appeal to their reason for a sane and rational mode of living."

Use Old Coach at Wedding of Miss Green and Dane

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Tuesday was the wedding day of Miss Margaret Eleanor Green, daughter of the late Dr. James O. Green and Mrs. Green, to H. R. H. Prince Viggo Christian Adolph George of Denmark.

By the marriage, Miss Green will become her Highness, Princess Viggo of Denmark, Countess of Rosenburg. The Prince renounces his right to succession in the Danish throne inasmuch as his bride is not of royal blood, thus conforming with the custom of the Danish Court.

The ceremony was performed by Bishop William T. Manning, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Theodore Selgwick.

The historic dark green and yellow coach built thirty years ago by the late Abraham S. Hewitt, once Mayor of New York, bore the couple to and from church. A reception was held in the home of the bride's aunts, the Misses Hewitt.

Seated in one of the front pews of the church was a group of old retainers of the Hewitt household.

British Prince Lands Job At $50 Per Year

By Associated Press.

KINGS LYNN, England, June 11.—Prince Henry, the third son of King George, has got a job which carries with it the remuneration of $50 a year. At a recent meeting of the town council here a letter was received from the prince accepting the appointment of Lord High Stewart for the town.

By his acceptance of this office the prince will become the representative of the Borough in the House of Lords, when he is raised to the peerage in the near future.

Lynn is one of the oldest boroughs in England, its first charter of incorporation being granted by King John.

Dry Goods Merchants Discuss Lower Cost

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, June 12.—Reductions in the costs of retail merchandising that would reflect themselves in lower prices to the ultimate consumer, is the announced theme underlying discussions of delegates to the Controllers' Congress of the National Retail Dry Goods Association here June 16 to 19.

Several hundred representatives of the nation's largest dry goods and department stores will discuss advertising, merchandising selling costs, insurance, delivery and warehousing, receiving, checking and marking of merchandise, and other topics concerning retail management.

The keynote of the convention will be an address by Lew Hahn, managing director of the National Dry Goods Association.

A display of devices used by merchants in offices, salesrooms and accounting departments will be shown during the convention.

WOMEN DISCUSS BETTER MOVIES

Club Women at Los Angeles Meet Tackle Intricate Problem of Censorship.

Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 12.—Censorship and control of the motion picture industry, the betterment of the quality of films and their increasing use for educational purposes, these form intricate and perplexing problems, it was stated to the Menial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs here today by Mrs. Harry Lilly of New York, chairman of the federation's national division of motion pictures.

"A moot question is that of censorship," explained Mrs. Lilly. "It is taken for granted that there must be some protection from the exhibition of questionable films, but whether it shall be state control or federal or community pressure upon the local exhibitors, has evoked expressions of sincere differences of opinion."

"Complaints about the filming of books whose popularity as 'best sellers' depends upon the exploitation of the so-called sex problem have been received and passed on to producers, but the pictures as a rule are free from the objectionable features of the books and out protests fall flat."

"A study of the business side of motion pictures will give one some comprehension of the structure of the industry against which we are pounding, Tennessee once found himself playing the difficult game of finding the value of a Fiddler's Contest along with the point of attack. It will also Fiddlin' John Carson and, although show us the necessity of keeping the Governor was awarded the prize industry stable enough to attract capital he refused to accept it. He told the ital, for without it improvement in the audience that the prize had been field will be impossible."

"It was appreciation of this that led cause he was the Governor of Tennessee committee to seriously consider essee, "But the man who deserves some action in regard to the banning the prize and the man who is going of pictures because of the reports of questionable conduct of actors. After due deliberation we declared our endorsement of the policy of believing a person innocent until proven guilty of the offense charged.

"In addition to trying to hold suitable performances for children and to procure clean films for everybody by a policy of watchful co-operation, we would suggest a thorough study of all sides of the question of censorship. We must continue to strive to make the playhouse decent physically, satisfying mentally, uplifting morally, without sacrificing entertainment values, remembering that the protection of the children and young people is our duty."

When Fiddlin' John Met Fiddlin' Bob

Most everyone south of the Mason-Dixon Line remembers Bob Taylor of Tennessee, but it is not generally known that it was the famous Governor himself who gave Fiddlin' John Carson the title which has stayed with him ever since. Once when he was down near Morgantown, Ga., he heard a boy from the mountains playing a fiddle. The tunes warmed the heart of Bob Taylor, who himself was no slouch with the bow. Bob Taylor took a kindly interest in the modest, shy lad from the mountains, and bought him his first suit of store clothes. Their friendship lasted for many a year. Bob Taylor, when Governor of Tennessee once found himself playing the difficult game of finding the value of a Fiddler's Contest along with the point of attack. It will also Fiddlin' John Carson and, although show us the necessity of keeping the Governor was awarded the prize industry stable enough to attract capital he refused to accept it. He told the ital, for without it improvement in the audience that the prize had been field will be impossible."

"It was appreciation of this that led cause he was the Governor of Tennessee committee to seriously consider essee, "But the man who deserves some action in regard to the banning the prize and the man who is going to get it is Fiddlin' John Carson because he is the best fiddler in the south or in the whole world." And that is how Bob Taylor played square with his old friend from the mountains. All the old timers and the young folks too are looking forward to Fiddlin' John Carson's appearance here in public with his Virginia Reelers on Saturday night at the Manning Theatre.

Cynthiana Working for Public Playgrounds

CYNTHIANA, June 10.—Dr. H. W. Bromley, president of the Public Playgrounds Association, addressed a union meeting of the churches at the Methodist church Sunday night, instead of Wood G. Dunlap, of Lexington, who was unable to come.

Doctor Bromley spoke of the ideals that went into the plans of those who came to America to establish their religious freedom and also to preserve for their children Christian ideals. The need of proper environment for children and directed recreation was emphasized by the speaker.

The details of raising money for the work here will be left to the executive committee. The Business Men's club, Rotary club, and Woman's club have given their endorsement to the movement.

Boosters Play Benham Ball Team Here Sun.

What will be the real opening game of the season with Middlesboro and other towns of this section will take place when the Middlesboro Boosters meet the Benham boys on the East End diamond at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

Local baseball fans are looking forward with eagerness to the encounter and from all indications there will be a large turnout. Benham boys are also counting the days and hoping they can emulate the Lynch team and score a victory.

The Booster line-up has not yet been announced but in view of the fact that much excellent material is available there is little doubt that a winning team has been formed.

Admission to the game is fifty cents.

THE MUSIC WE ALL LOVE TO HEAR.

Fiddlin' John Carson has come out of the Mountains into the spotlight of fame. He has played his way into the hearts of the American people. The music that he plays is real. It is part of America and can never grow old.

opportunity. He is marked by fecundity of ideas and frugality of idiom, by prodigality of thought and economy of expression. This picture makes a consistent whole. It all eventuates in an insistent policy of economy in government expenditures. He believes there is urgent necessity the world over for actual retrenchment in the use of public funds. His insistence upon tax reduction and tax reform illustrate emphatically the practical application of his sense of thrift.

"In the largest sense of the term he is a patient man. He knows that time will do its perfect work. He does not judge conditions or civilizations or government in terms of day, a month or a year. He instinctively takes the long look. He knows thoroughly the history of our country and understands with keen insight the principles which we represent.

Will Not Be Hurried

"He can not please everyone. Therefore some, for the time, become hostile and critical. This condition is inevitable in the life of any administrator. This man, in a very remarkable way, takes his punishment quietly and silently. At times he must oppose what appears to some as an unqualified good because he recognizes its temporary benefits and sees in the distant future that it must work an evil to society. Through all such experiences he walks with the spirit of human understanding. He knows that time will heal the hurt. His sense of time explains the thoroughness of his work and his intolerance for superficiality. He must have the facts at first hand and will not base decision on a partial knowledge of the situation. He will not be hurried. He avoids extremes and avoids proposals.

tion. "Has he a sense of humor? Emphatically yes. It is not the type that wastes time in recounting incidents of ever increasing triteness. There is an alertness about his mind and a nimbleness of his spirit which are very attractive. These qualities do not express themselves in just the ordinary forms. At times you might imagine he had not even heard what was being said. Then he drops a remark which makes you realize that he has taken several steps in advance and has put his finger on the real point. He is not given to hilarity. His humor is dry and delightful and its expression as a rule is just a sentence as his more serious utterances.

His Sense of Spiritual

"Beneath the characteristics we have mentioned lies something which one naturally hesitates to drag into the light. There are some things too sacred for public parade even though a man belongs to the people. When you find a man, however, with qualities such as we have sketched, you inevitably ask for the secret. What is the dynamic back of this moral fibre, this bitter self control, this sense of the value of things, this instructive understanding of work, this quiet patience with the ages? It is his sense of the spiritual. No one can read his speeches without realizing that to him religion is essential to life. I am speaking in the broadest and most comprehensive terms. I am not discussing theology but religion. There are at least a few great fundamental spiritual realities which are the common possession of men. He firmly believes religion to be necessary to the hearts of America. He asserts that most of all there is need of religion. From that source alone came freedom. Nothing else touches the soul of man. Nothing else justifies faith in the people. Tolerance in religion is among our most notable achievements in this country. The vital realities of religion alone can satisfy the deepest needs of the human spirit. It is reassuring to know that this man believes in a personal power greater than man; in emergencies, with Washington and Lincoln, he will know that the issue lies in another hand."

His religious convictions center

about a few great words—humility, sacrifice, renunciation, service. In a very commendable sense he is a humble man. He puts himself out of the center of things. He believes that "it is only in the spirit of true humility that there is any approach to the better things of life." His remarkable speech of Memorial Day this year was actually built around the idea of renunciation. To him "the law of life, the law of progress, is the law of obedience, the law of service."

Follows Right and Truth

"Here then is the man. He follows right and truth to their logical conclusions." He gathered it all up in an address he delivered a year ago at a college commencement. He said, "We do not need more national development, we need more spiritual development. We do not need more intellectual power, we need more moral power. We do not need more knowledge, we need more character. We do not need more government, we need more culture. We do not need more law, we need more religion. We do not need more of the things that are seen, we need more of the things that are unseen."

For Obedience To Law

"The question of law observance in our country today simply can not be ignored. The problem has many ramifications. It illustrates how many people fail to understand the real genius of our institutions. If democracy means anything it requires obedience to the rule of the people. With the active support of the mothers' re-

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION IN SESSION

sharp incisiveness this man wrote a bill and as governor of the commonwealth of Massachusetts in 1919 he signed the forty-eight hour bill of government. How few some understand, or if they do, are willing to live by it. It goes without saying that the authority of the law is questioned in these days all too much. The binding obligation of obedience against personal desire is denied in many quarters. Upon this issue there is no mistaking when he stands. Law observance is a necessity for perpetuation of American institutions. He points out among others, two vital considerations. First, law goes back to the individual citizen. To enact or to repeal laws is not to secure reform. It is necessary to take the problems directly to the individual. It is upon him that the ultimate must come. Secondly, we all live in a world controlled by law, a fact which we cannot ignore with impunity.

Love For America
"His fervent love of America has made him an out and out nationalist. He cannot look with compromise upon any plan or proposal which would limit directly or by inference the independence of America. No one need doubt where he stands. His devotion to this country will never permit him to fail in protecting American rights. Without any hesitation he asserts, 'it is the record of history that nations follow their interest. We shall follow ours.' That is clear cut and unequivocal. In discussing the Paris conference he has said 'everyone knows that the American soul longs to establish a condition which held the promise of a permanent peace, but its ideal was for a peace not imposed by the major forces of the world from without but maintained by the moral power of the world from within.'"

"We have seen what manner of man he is. We have found him to be superbly American. The roots of true Americanism run down deep into humanity. We are all potentially sons and daughters of a common father. The brotherhood of man is a great spiritual reality. There are some questions which can be rightly viewed only from this angle. We shall find here new depths in this man whom we have chosen as our leader."

Confidence In People

"He has unlimited confidence in the people. This is said in no uncertain sense. It is an irradicable part of his theory of representative government. He actually proceeds upon the conviction, as Thomas Hooker put it, that 'the foundation of authority is laid firstly in the free consent of the people.' This is a favorite quotation of the president's."

"As early as 1907 he was supporting equal suffrage. Those were the days when it required courage to be a suffragist. But he saw the principle with perfect clearness and was its ardent advocate from the beginning of his public career. Likewise when he was in the senate of his own state, decision to him without even presenting their own arguments. They knew he would get the facts and would be fair. This is high tribute not only to his state-manship but to his sense of intrinsic values."

"He recognizes fully our duty to mankind and our obligations of leadership. His message to the congress last December while insisting consistently upon American independence was an unqualified unimpeachable declaration of our sense of obligation to all mankind. ****. And then came his speech on Memorial Day of this year. With even greater emphasis and earnestness he said 'we are not going to be able to avoid meeting the world and bearing our part of the burdens of the world. We must meet them and overcome them. For my part, I desire my country to meet them, then without evasion and without fear in an upright, downright, square American way.'"

"Moreover, back of his fine idealism he has definite proposals regarding methods of procedure in realizing his aims. ****. He believes unquestionably in the eternal value of mutual discussions."

"Even more specifically he boldly supports the proposal for a world court. He would adjust and minimize the disagreements between nations not by the use of military power, or even by the threats and displays of great naval and military strength but by the methods of reason and justice. Surely no one intelligently can imagine that he would ever sacrifice American independence and sovereignty. He does yearn to co-operate with other nations in correcting misunderstandings and eliminating the differences whose cumulative effect often presage war. ****."

"Here is a practical idealist with an American world view which is clear unmistakable and challenging. It is now time that his position be more clearly comprehended in its spiritual depth and practical effectiveness. He knows America must play her full part in world affairs. He insists upon doing it in an American way."

"As self respecting individuals, we can trust this man. As lovers of America we can follow one who is supremely American as citizens with as broad a humanity we can find his guidance into new and larger world leadership, because he is a true human being."

"To the national convention of the greatest party in American history, I have the distinction to present as candidate to succeed himself as president of the United States of America, the virile man—the staunch American—the real human being—Calvin Coolidge."

Depew Misses His First Convention Since 1880
NEW YORK, June 12.—Chauncey M. Depew, who attended his first convention sixty years ago and had not missed one Republican until the present since 1880, today revealed that his resolution to stay away this time was almost shattered. He wavered, he said, at the thought of the journey, but declared he "could go as well as not."

His absence was forced by a colic contracted a few days ago at the celebration of his ninetieth birthday anniversary. Yesterday, however, he was at his office at the New York Central railroad.

Cortez Tree Dying

MEXICO CITY, June 12.—Mexico's most famous tree, that under which Cortez is supposed to have sought shelter 400 years ago, when driven from the Aztec capital, is slowly dying and all efforts of tree surgeons to arrest the progress of decay have proven fruitless. The municipality of Tacuba, a suburb where "The Tree of the Weeping Night" is to be found, has been petitioned to dig up the enormous trunk and place it in the national museum.

Worth racing for

Gee, Mister, if you've ever tasted the real Orange-Crush, you'd race your legs off just to get one!

Here are six reasons why it's so delicious: (1) The natural fruit oil of oranges—which gives that delicate and distinctive flavor; (2) The natural acid of citrus fruits (oranges, lemons and limes)—which gives the tang; (3) Orange juice; (4) Carbonated water—which gives "zip," sparkle, purity; (5) U. S. Certified food color—which makes it as appealing to the eye as to the taste; (6) Pure cane sugar.

That's all. My, what a drink!

Hall For Big Democratic Convention Being Built

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 12.—The vast amphitheater of Madison Square Garden is reverberating these days with the clamor of an army of workmen and a corps of architects, who have invaded the historic old structure June 1 to dress it up for the National Democratic Convention, beginning June 24.

The Democratic party will be in possession of the Garden until July 15 under the terms of the Executive Committee's lease with Tex Rickard. Day and night, from now until convention time, the metamorphosis of the picturesque place will continue. Then, immediately the delegates finish their nominating and adjourn, will begin the laborious process of converting the Garden into its old self again.

The whole job, on which it originally was intended to spend about $40,000, will cost approximately $80,000, according to George F. Mara, director of convention arrangements. First plans for alterations have been elaborated to include the installation of thousands of more comfortable seats than the Garden boasted, the erection

Town To Be Given $20,000 If It Will Change Its Name

By changing the name of Mortons Gap, as a town, to "Cushman," the town will receive $10,000 interest annually for its grammar school, according to the will of the late Henry B. Cushman, wealthy Greenfield, Mass., manufacturer.

The will provides that the first town in the United States with more than 10,000 inhabitants which shall take and forever retain the name of Cushman within five years after the death of his wife, provided no town in Massachusetts has conformed with the will by adopting the name of Cushman, shall receive the sum of $10,000 and the interest which has accumulated thereon. This now amounts to $20,000 and the money is to be invested in government or other bonds and the interest is only to be paid to the town for school use. The interest is in perpetuity and the principal is to remain forever intact.

Mayor Ben T. Robinson and the members of the city council are in favor of changing the name of this town to Cushman as no town in Massachusetts nor elsewhere in the United States has complied with the provisions of the will in that respect. The matter will be submitted to the next session of the Kentucky General Assembly and it will be asked to enact a law so the town can change its name, provided the councilmen to be elected before that session are in favor of this action.

While the original amount specified in the will is $10,000 it has increased

MAKING SCHEDULE FOR AIR SERVICE

"All Set" for Transcontinental Mail Service — Will Start On July 1.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The Postal Service is all set for the hop-off from the Atlantic and the Pacific on the morning of July 1 of the first planes in the transcontinental air mail service.

At 6 a. m. that day the first plane will start from San Francisco carrying letters for the flight across the mountains and plains to New York City where they are scheduled to arrive at 5:45 p. m. the following day.

The westbound mail plane will hop off from New York at 10 a. m. July 1 with mail scheduled to land in San Francisco at 5:45 p. m. July 2.

Special letter boxes have been installed in all important cities along the route and the railway mail service has been instructed as to handling letters bearing the special air mail service stamps. Postal officials here are confident the new service will be popular from the beginning and be a big success.

Fifteen to twenty minutes are allowed at each landing field for change of planes and pilots. Three hours and 40 minutes are utilized in this manner on the westbound trips and three hours and 20 minutes on the eastbound trips, the stop at Itawamba, Wyo., being omitted eastbound.

FINISH STONE ROAD IN ROCKCASTLE CO.

Four Miles Yet Remain to be Surfaced — Traveling Now Going Through.

LEXINGTON, June 12.—Laying of bed rock on the six miles of Dixie highway, route 4, under construction from the Madison-Rockcastle county line to Roundstone, Ky., over Scarfords (a mile) has been completed, according to word received by the touring bureau of the Lexington Automobile club in the Lafayette hotel from F. H. Clark, of Berea.

"The first five miles south of Berea is in good condition," the letter states. "Over the Rockcastle line to Roundstone, a distance of six miles, we have completed the bed rock. All has been rolled and is passable, but rough. Two miles of this six miles is completed on the surface, so that the rough road is only four miles."

"Southbound traffic may turn to the right at Todd's store in dry weather, and thus avoid three of the four miles of this rough road. In wet weather they had better continue on the rough road."

The Automobile club has been sending tourists over this road since last Saturday, due to a very bad stretch of road at Broadhead, on the route to Mt. Vernon via Danville.

"We hope to raise enough money to complete the surfacing in two or three months," Mr. Clark said.

Aged Sisters Are Found Guilty of Attack On Relative

LAURENS, S. C., June 11.—Two aged women, sisters, were found guilty here late last night of assault and battery with intent to kill in connection with an alleged brutal attack upon a third woman, daughter-in-law of one of the defendants. The three lived together in the home of Elmore Young, husband of the accosting witness, son and nephew of the accused women.

The court convened today to pronounce sentence upon Mrs. Alice Young and Miss Emma Stroud, who, the prosecution contended, beat Mrs. Katherine Young with an iron rod as she stood at the telephone in their home at Clinton, S. C., two months ago, and then procured a hatchet with which they knocked her in the head several times. One witness testified that after striking the young woman in the head with the hatchet, one of the older women remarked: "Sounds like a gourd."

"The Board of directors of the Elmore Young, the husband and Cumberland Telephone company has

Fish and Game Clubs Aid In Game Law Enforcement

By Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, June 12.—Formation of a number of sportsmen's clubs in different sections of the state in the last few years is a movement heartily endorsed by the Game and Fish Commission. The membership of these organizations is always made up of the best element of the citizenship of the community who are interested in hunting and fishing, and who are always ready to lend a helping hand in enforcing the game laws.

These were the words of R. S. Tuttle, executive agent, today, summarizing enforcement of game laws by game wardens and county authorities. He said:

"It is the consensus of opinion by authorities on the conservation of our wild life that the effort to build up public sentiment relative to the work is resolving itself more and more each year into a matter of educating the coming generations—to realize the importance of protecting our friends of the fields and forests—not only from an esthetic and economic standpoint, but from the standpoint of the man who loves to hunt and fish, and who wants the coming generations to enjoy the sport of rod and gun, as has been his privilege."

"The ideal state of affairs from the Commission's viewpoint would be the formation of a good strong club in each county seat whose members are ever on the alert to report violations of the game laws to the office of the commission at Frankfort."

"When this condition can be brought about, and it exists in a great many other states, then the outlook for the Kentucky sportsman is very bright, for in a very few states of the union do we find any better conditions for the propagation of game

Eminent Physicians Claim Gland Theory Is Overrated

Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 12.—Rejuvenation by transplantation of any kind of glands was branded as mythology before the surgery section of the American Medical Association, by Dr. Clarence A. McWilliams, New York surgeon, in an address today. The speaker considered the subject in relation to skin grafts or grafts of internal organs from one creature to another.

"In numerous instances I can point out where the uniform result is the disappearance of the grafted tissues," Dr. McWilliams asserted. "The scientific reason is that between animals of the same species, even there are unknown biological differences that prevent the survival of the transplanted arteries. Reported successes would indicate that these grafted organs 'seem to take,' but they suddenly disappear, in a few weeks at the most."

"The same facts govern the grafting of skin from one individual to another. In order to grow, skin must be taken from the same person. Apparent success of other individuals' grafts is explained by the fact that the patient's own skin grows under the transplant and pushes it aside."

"Plastic surgery holds the greatest promise to those having either congenital or unfortunately acquired facial deformities," he added. "A hideous deformity may be transformed into a scarcely noticeable disfigurement."

not yet acted upon Mr. Brown's resignation.

"The two officials will assume their new duties as soon as the changes involved can be worked out."

Coutts Now Boosts Highway to Harlan

KNOXVILLE, June 11.—W. G. Coutts, of Big Stone Gap, Va., is in Knoxville, to urge cooperation by the Chamber of Commerce, Automobile club and other civic organizations in behalf of a proposed Knoxville to Harlan highway. Mr. Coutts said today:

"The recent organization of a Kiwanis club for Lee county, Va., at Pennington Gap was the signal for one big aggressive drive to punch a highway from Knoxville to Harlan town following the Lonesome Pine trail route as far as Pennington Gap and branch over to Harlan through St. Charles and Yocum Creek, Clover Fork route. While this highway is one of the most important trade opportunities for Knoxville the leaders of Lee county and Harlan county consider it the most important all around

KIWANIS THREE STATE PROGRAM IS BIG SUCCESS

Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky Are Represented.

INTERESTING TALKS

Co-operation Between Country and Town Urged — Noble History of Mountains Is Eulogized.

A remarkable interesting and instructive program in every way was the tri-state one given at the Kiwanis Club today by Chairman W. R. Pool and his three speakers, Rev. A. F. Robertson of Virginia, Gen. T. G. Fulkerson of Tennessee, and Judge J. R. Sampson of Kentucky. Each speech was followed by an appropriate number by the "Hornbloss Quartet."

The first speaker was the Rev. Rousertson who spoke of the cooperation which should exist between Middlesboro and her neighbors. Mr. Robertson, as the other speakers, was introduced by the chairman in well chosen phrases. He pointed out how his section could help and be helped by Middlesboro. They, he said, could produce all this section needs, if Middlesboro would but provide a proper market place. Almost every one in Middlesboro came originally from the country district of Kentucky, Tennessee or Virginia, he pointed out, and there should be no line of division at the top of the mountain. Now, he said, there was no incentive for the farmer who did not have a market for the things he was raising, to grow any more. If Middlesboro developed an adequate market, he showed, the country people could bring their products to town, exchanging them for things in the stores here, thereby keeping the money at home. When Rev. Robertson finished the quartet sang, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

General Fulkerson of Tazewell, the next speaker, announced at the beginning that he was 84 years of age, but the enthusiasm of his audience soon proved to him that his years lay lightly, indeed. Each individual described a little circle in which he includes his neighbors. Gen. Fulkerson said in beginning. The more broad minded and wiser the individual, the larger his circle. "My circle includes the Appalachian mountaineers," he declared. "No man is prouder of these people than I. We have been ridiculed, misrepresented and held up to scorn, yet eight of the ten great leaders of the Civil War came out of Kentucky, Virginia and Tennessee."

He went on to name these leaders. Then the speaker spoke briefly of Dr. Thomas Walker's expedition this way in 1750, of the families that came through with him long before the time of Daniel Boone. He mentioned familiar surnames of persons who came at that time, declaring that all of these early settlers of these three states were closely related.

The last speaker, Judge Sampson, was equal eloquent in his eulogy of the mountains where he said he has lived forty years. He declared that he had seen the development of every town of any consequence in the Appalachians in this time. Better transportation had obliterated distances, he pointed out, so that now the people of this section were indeed neighbors. There is no reason for division, he said, as the state lines are at best but imaginary divisions. Touching lightly on the material value of cooperation among the rural districts of Tennessee and Virginia with Middlesboro, Judge Sampson, too, turned to history. Jefferson, Washington, Marshall, Jackson, and most of all Lincoln, he pointed out, had come from the mountain states, he said, sketching the work each had done for the union and the world. "We at the corner of the three states," he said in closing, "in close touch with all, remembering the traditions of our great states, are indeed neighbors and should be known as such, living in unity one with another."

Announcement was made preceding the program of a banquet for the golf tournament visitors to be held at 8 o'clock Wednesday night, June 25. W. C. Stair also announced that the Community Chest was still $2,800 short and called for volunteers to go in the morning and work to make up the budget before the campaign closed at noon tomorrow.

EXHORTATION TO GREATER FAITH

Evangelist Declares "Bahoon Boosters" Can Not Alter His Faith in the Holy Bible.

The revival at the First M. E. Church is now getting much headway. Large crowds are attending and many persons are becoming seekers of Christ. The sermon last night of Dr. Andrew Johnson was on "Faith." "The thing this old world needs is more faith. We need more faith in ourselves, in humanity, the church and God," the evangelist declared. "Faith is an agreement with the Bible; it is a venture on the divine promise, an appropriation of saving grace. There are many things in this fast commercial age which greatly tax our faith but we must not lose confidence in the ultimate triumph of the right."

During the course of his sermon the minister declared that "No so-called modern scientists and biological bahoon boosters can take from me my faith in the inspiration of the Holy Bible."

The Rev. H. M. Campbell of Burgess, O., the Rev. J. T. Martin of Louisville and Mrs. Ullembaugh and family, prominent church workers of Miami, Fla., were present.

Avenue Racecourse for Motorcycle Speeders

Two youthful motorcycle speeders created a great deal of interest by a mad race along Cumberland avenue at about 10 o'clock last night. Witnesses state that the two vehicles were apparently making sixty miles per hour.

Officers stopped the boys but did make any arrest, this being the "first offense." They claimed that they would not again make a race on the main street and thus endangering the lives of pedestrians and other drivers.

GULBRANSEN The Registering Piano

The Registering Piano

The Gulbransen Registering Piano of today is the world's latest achievement in musical instruments.

It stands absolutely alone in the artistic results it produces and the ease with which they are obtained. It is played by music roll and pedals, as are other instruments of its type, but there the similarity ends.

The Gulbransen system on its exact "touch" on each note. It can be played with all the feeling, the life, the delicacy of the very finest piano music you ever listened to.

Because these are facts, we are insistent that the Gulbransen be not confused with other instruments of the same type. We challenge investigation of it as an Easy-to-Play Registering Piano that registers your exact touch, that registers your time, that registers your expression.
